NOTE: The job matching methodology presented here is for survey purposes only and is not a job evaluation process. Although this survey methodology is related to the Willis Towers Watson Career Map and Global Grading methodologies, it may not align directly with specific client implementation of one of these leveling methodologies. Therefore it is critical to align your internal levels to the survey levels based on a careful review of the survey definitions to ensure proper job matching.

Career Map and the Global Grading System, when formally implemented, enable the alignment of reward and talent management programs across businesses. When used as internal leveling tools, these methodologies take into account the specific organizational context of a job and the detailed set of associated accountabilities and demands. The outcomes of these processes are highly organization-specific, while survey job descriptions and levels are by their nature generic. Therefore, organizations that use Career Map or the Global Grading System as their internal leveling tool are still required to match their jobs to this survey using the job matching process outlined in this Participant Guide.

An organization’s internal Global Grade or Career Level may act as a starting point, but as the Career Levels and Global Grades contained in these surveys represent a typical or generic organization, there may be differences between the internal value a specific organization places on a job and where the job should be mapped for purposes of external comparison.
