

Workforce Pell

What It Is

Federal financial aid for eligible short-term workforce training programs.

A pathway to fund career-focused credentials completable in as little as 8-15 weeks.

Focused on high-skill, high-wage, and in-demand occupations aligned with workforce needs.

Delivered through Title IV-eligible institutions including community and technical colleges.

What It Is Not

A new standalone grant separate from existing Pell Grant system.

Funding for any short-term course or training program without eligibility criteria.

A replacement for traditional degree programs or long-term academic pathways.

Direct funding or tax credits for employers (e.g., Section 127) or non-eligible providers.
